

An exciting opportunity has arisen for volunteers at London Museum Docklands!

- Come and volunteer with our Learning team and gain practical experience in museums and learning.
- Develop and share your knowledge of London's history, including the Thames, Docklands and the East End.

London Museum Docklands' Learning department engages thousands of people each year through our high-quality schools and family programmes. We are currently looking for enthusiastic individuals to support our work, joining the Learning Volunteer team starting in Easter 2025.

If you have an interest in learning and gaining experience in a museum environment, then this could be the volunteer role for you!

The Learning Volunteer role involves supporting families and schools during their visit and ensuring that they have a highly enjoyable experience. Activities include:

- Supporting staff and freelancers to deliver a range of informal learning activities for schools and families e.g. arts and crafts, object handling and workshops
- Welcoming schools upon arrival and helping them out during their visit
- Helping with the preparation of resources and materials and support the delivery of large-scale events

Previous experience is not essential as full training is provided. Join us to gain an insight into museum learning in a fun, busy and creative environment.

If you're interested please click here to apply: <https://bttr.im/a2qwr>

The deadline for applications is 9th February 2025.

An introduction and selection day will take place on 27th February. For shortlisted candidates, training for the role will take place on 13th March 2025.